Brooklin School Entrance: This section is very low speed and will remain an informal trail beside the entrance road.
School Entrance looking along Route 175 heading toward Sedgwick: This section is flat with a drainage ditch several feet off of the road edge.
Approaching Church: The gravel/dirt shoulder gives way to a short section of paving at the church entrance and parking lot for a church annex building. Access to this parking lot is quite wide. The Town Office is across the street.

From Church to Sealander Property

The shoulder here is gravel and flat with a gentle swale to the right. The gravel area in the distance is a weekly farmers market on private property.

Brooklin Library

The gravel shoulder continues with the library on the right. Cars often park in this shoulder while using the library. Alternative access to parking is recommended.

Naskeag Point Road

Naskeag Point Road forms a T-intersection with Main Street. This is a wide open intersection with an open parking lot, store and gas station across from the library. The shoulder narrows.

Beyond Naskeag Point Road This section of shoulder is grass with utility poles and ditching moving closer to the road.
Post Office The final section has a ditch much closer to the road and utility poles in the center of the ditch. The post office is across the road.
